SMOKE SIGNALS FROM THE CHIEF

Dear Arrowmen:

We are now looking into a new year with an enthusiastic group of lodge officers and committee chairman, and an ambitious lodge calendar for the coming year. We, as your representatives, hope that each of you will take advantage of this years' program by volunteering involvement whether it be in chapter programs or activities, one of the 17 new lodge committees, or with the lodge program itself.

A lodge calendar has been printed in this edition of The Echo, we hope that you will transfer these dates to your family calendars and plan your attendance now for future lodge events. As each event approaches, details will be given to each chapter chief and will also be printed in The Echo when possible. It is our sincere desire that each of you WILL decide to be active and involved this year-don't waste your $3.00.

Yours in Brotherhood,

THE LODGE OFFICERS, 1982
Rusty Bayles, Chief

INDIAN FEATURE

The Navaho Indians were a tribe in the southwestern United States related to the Apache. Around 1,000 AD, the Navahos probably came from Canada into Arizona and New Mexico. They settled near the Pueblo Indians who taught them to raise corn and how to weave. Today, they live on a large reservation in Arizona, New Mexico and Utah. The Navahos now make a living by farming and selling jewelry and hand-woven rugs.

The Siver Jubilee party was held October 8, 9, and 10 at Tracy Wigwam. Highlights of the party were lodge officer elections, work projects, and Indian lore. Among the work projects were refurnishing the old ranger's cabin. This cabin was taken over by the lodge and will serve as a future meeting for the lodge. The new lodge officers include Rusty Bayles as chief, John Cook, Craig McBeth, Kade Peterson as vice-chiefs, Bill Hardman as secretary and Troy Johnson as treasurer. Other highlights included indian games, ceremony workshops, fellowshipping of new memembers, and officer nominations. Thursday night included dance competition whereas Friday night included a Brotherhood Ceremony, and a lodge campfire program. Saturday ended with a delicious feast. In all, the party was well planned and everybody had a fun time.

THE EAGLE PROJECT

Perhaps the most rewarding achievements for any Boy Scout on his way along the Eagle trail, is the culminating experience of planning and developing his Eagle Service Project. Because it is such an important part of the Eagle requirements, the Advancement Committee of the Great Salt Lake Council wants to do everything possible to help every project be the type which will be rewarding and beneficial to the boy. Following are some cautions which we hope every Scoutmaster will follow to avoid the disappointments that can sometimes occur. FIRST--UNDERSTAND THE REQUIREMENTS. "While a Life Scout, Plan, Develop, and give leadership to others in a service project helpful to your religious institution, school, or community. The project idea must be approved by your Scoutmaster, Troop Committee and reviewed by the Council or District before you start." (Pg. 57, Boy Scout Handbook)

Although the general idea of the project need not be original, the details should be planned by the Scout himself, sometimes with the aid of the person whom he is responsible to, such as a forest ranger when doing a park project.

1. He must recruit other Scouts to assist him in carrying out the project. (Minimum of 2.)
2. He must develop all the details of the project in obtaining necessary permits, materials, etc.
3. He must utilize others to carry out the project and demonstrate the level of leadership expected from an Eagle Scout in directing them.
4. The length and difficulty of the project differs from Scout to Scout, but should approach the limits of the Scout's capabilities in scope and magnitude. The candidate should plan to contribute at least 12 hours of his time to carrying out and planning the project.

SECOND--GET APPROVAL IN ADVANCE. An Eagle project must be of lasting value and benefit the School, Church or Community in order to qualify. Many projects may appear to meet this criteria, but upon close examination are found to be only a commendable "Good Turn" by the Scout and his friends. For example: cleaning the snow from the sidewalks of all the widows in a neighborhood all winter might seem to fit the church benefit category, but in reality, is simply a 'good turn' to several widows.
